Charting Female Leaders Across the Globe

While political, gender-equal progress has been made in recent years with more women entering politics and the implementation of policies designed to boost women's political representation (such as Women Policy Agencies, gender electoral quotas, and gender mainstreaming policies), there remains a notable lack of female leadership worldwide. This map showcases the trailblazing women leaders (as of April 2022) from around the globe, accompanied by self-portraits of each female head of state or government. Take a moment to see if you recognize any of these inspiring figures—or perhaps even spot your own country's leader!
